BRADSTREET'S WEEKLY REPORT

By The Associated Press.

New York, July 8.—Trade and industry have been at a low ebb this week, reflecting vacation influences, summer shut downs and generally quiet distributive demands. The chief interest, of course centers in the crop situation the irregular movements of securities and of prices of staples are traceable to the uncertainty generated by reports of excessive moisture in the winter belt and too cool weather for corn. Railway earnings confirm the earlier report of good June results in a probable increase of 3 per cent in the gross earnings.

Quint has very generally rated in all trading industries. Lumber trade is rather quiet. Wheat, including four exports for the week were $79.000 bu. against 2,380,000 this week of last year.

Corn exports for the week were 613,000 bushels against 1,324,000 year ago.

SHOWERED COIN

On Woman Who Refused His Affections—Left Another's Wife $60,000.

Columbus, Ohio, July 8.—Mrs. Harry Alexandria, of Oak street, and her seven-months old son have inherited a fortune of $60,000 from John Wolburg of Moosic, Penn. Wolburg was many years the senior of Mrs. Alexandria, but during the latter's early life he was an ardent admirer of her. Although she refused to marry him, he showered financial favors upon herself and family, and at his death left her a part of his fortune. Mrs. Alexandria is now in Moosic.

500 MILES IN A CANOE

Three Young Men Arrived in Cairo Yesterday After Four Weeks River Trip.

Paul Sellers, Carl and Leon Bishop arrived in Cairo yesterday from Green Castle, Ind., in a canoe fifteen feet long by two and one-half feet wide made after the model of the bark canoe of the Indians. The young men left home June 19 bound for Cairo and arrived here Friday a distance of 500 miles after twenty-six days of river travel which was attended by many dangers and some hardships. They intended going from here to St. Louis to visit the World's fair but the Bishop brothers were prevented from making the St. Louis trip by the illness of Carl who was compelled to return home from here accompanied by his brother.

When the young men left Green Castle they contemplated a pleasant trip. They were healthy young fellows and carried with them plenty of nerve, muscle and a 7x10 tent. They floated down the Big Walnut creek into the Bel river, thence to the White river, from there to the Wabash and from the Wabash to the Ohio.

Their trip was not lacking of adventure and some hardship. One evening they pitched tent on a small island and had hardly gotten located before rain began falling. It continued to rain in torrents and the young campers awoke about midnight to find their tent standing in several inches of water and everything they possessed soaking wet.

The party carried no cooking utensils, but purchased most of their food from farmhouses along the river. They fished some and went on one or two foraging expeditions, but neither were very successful and they abandoned this means of obtaining something to eat.

The young men experienced a thrilling adventure at New Harmony, Ind., when they attempted and passed safely through long stretches of rapids known as the "cut off." They were compelled to get out of the canoe and cling to the sides of the frail craft with their bodies in the water in order to pass safely over the rapids and even then one of the young fellows barely escaped with his life.

The young men were glad when the long trip was ended and it will be the last of his kind ever attempted by them.

Mr. Sellers expects to leave today for St. Louis.

A LITTLE TOO MUCH.

Shrewd Traveler Got Neatly Out of a Situation.

She had a small child with her and there was no vacant seat in the car.

"We'll have to stand, dearie," she said.

Now a woman standing alone is bad enough, but when she has to steady a child it is infinitely worse. In this case two men started to offer a seat, but one being a little quicker than the other, the latter settled back comfortably.

"Here is a seat, madam," said the one who had risen.

"Thank you," she said, and stooping, she lifted the child into the vacant seat. Then she looked hard at the other man.

"Why don't you sit down, mummy?" asked the child.

"I have no seat," she replied, and again she looked at the man who had started to get up.

The other passengers began to "take notice." The man who had given up his seat had expected she would take the child in her lap, but it was evident that she wanted two seats. Would she get them? Some how he felt a little provoked, but he could still enjoy the dilemma of the other man. The latter had been equally ready to give up his seat when it seemed to be necessary, but now he seemed to decay an imposition.

"Can't you get a seat, mummy?" persisted the child.

"No, dearie," the woman replied.

"Mamma will have to stand."

But her eyes were on the man. So were the eyes of others in the car. They were gazing to note the result, and they noted it. The man reached over, picked up the child, set it on his knee, and remarked pleasantly, "There's a seat for you, madam."

The woman's face grew very red, but she took the seat—and the child. And she knew the other passengers were laughing.—Brooklyn Eagle.

HAIL KILLED HOGS.

A hail storm of no small proportions visited this place and extended southward to the Ohio river Thursday afternoon. Reports coming into town from farmers living three to five miles east of town, where the storm seems to have been the most severe, are to the effect that corn, tomatoes, all kinds of fruit are ruined. Hail stones as large as walnuts killed hogs weighing 75 pounds each on the farm of W. C. Ethernan. A few samples of tomato stalks, pea plant, etc., are to be seen at the postoffice here. The bark was stripped from small fruit trees and bushes. The total loss cannot be estimated.—Murphysboro Independent.

The Platform Upon Which this Business Stands.

Just as great political parties announce the cardinal "planks" of the "platforms" upon which they stand and ask the votes of the people, so this newly established but rapidly growing business announces the platform on which it asks the patronage of the buying public. The drug store of H. N. Henckell therefore, hereby declares that its purposes are and will continue to be:

To Sell—Always at Lowest Prices

drugs and druggists' sundries of the finest quality from the highest priced down to the least expensive dependable goods, and to keep complete assortment thereof.

To offer these goods to the public WITHOUT EXAGGERATION OR MISREPRESENTATION, direct or indirect.

To make COURTESY, ACCOMMODATION AND ABSOLUTE INTEGRITY the very "atmosphere" of this business, surrounding and pervading each individual transaction.

To make every Sale so SATISFACTORY to the purchaser that it will be a guaranty of that purchaser's future patronage.

To make this Store the FAVORITE SHOPPING HEADQUARTERS of all discriminating drug buyers in Cairo.

To make this Store SO RELIABLE, SO TRUSTWORTHY, SO THOROUGH IN LIVING UP TO ITS PRINCIPLES that everybody will feel and KNOW that any purchase, of drugs or druggists' sundries, can be made here with absolute safety and certainty of COMPLETE SATISFACTION.

To the execution of these purposes, in general and minutest detail, we pledge our constant efforts, and upon such execution we base all our hopes of success.

SEVEN KILLED

And Two Seriously Injured While Working On New Railroad Bridge at Thebes.

By The Associated Press.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., July 8.—Seven workmen killed and two others seriously injured by being blown from the second arch of the new railroad bridge across the Mississippi river at Thebes, Ill., tonight. A tornado struck the traveling crane upon which the men were at work and pushed it backward until it struck on obstruction and was hurled to the rocks below.

IS JUSTIFIED

In Seeking Divorce—Wife Threw Hash Over Him and Used a Potato Masher.

Hamilton, Ohio, July 8.—Robert Keever of Mason, Ohio, in a suit for divorce today, avers that his wife, Amy, struck him with a plate of domestic hash, and then beat him over the head with a potato masher.

KILLED IN WRECK.

Among the twenty-two killed in the frightful train wreck at Litchfield Sunday night was Harry M. Dietrich founder of the Anna Democrat, and for several years its editor and manager. Mr. Dietrich is well remembered in this city. He was a man about 45 years of age, the father of three boys and one girl. At the time of his death he was en route to the Democratic national convention.

Since leaving Anna he has been a prominent labor leader in Chicago, and had quite a local reputation as an orator. Only a week ago his daughter was married in Chicago. It is believed his remains will be interred at Anna.

Some Pointers Regarding St. Louis and the World's Fair.

What To Do And What Not To Do.

In the first place, select your route and select the best. The rates are the same by all and you are entitled to the best because you are footing the bills. If you are located on the line of the Big Four Route, or sufficiently near to avail yourself of their magnificent train service, by all means do so.

The Big Four Route is the old reliable and long established road to St. Louis. It is the Old "Bee Line" route and has been operating fast, through trains to St. Louis for over a generation.

The Big Four operated magnificent through trains to St. Louis before the Fair, it will operate magnificent through trains during the Fair, and after the Fair is over and forgotten it will still be serving the public with magnificent through trains to St. Louis.

You can depend on an old established line of this kind; they have their reputation to sustain.

Next decide what class of ticket you desire to purchase. There are four classes: The coach excursion ticket, good seven days, sold at a rate of about one cent per mile; the fifteen day ticket, sold at about one fare for the round trip; also the sixty day ticket, sold at somewhat higher rates. All agents of the Big Four Route are supplied with these various forms of tickets.

As to HOTELS or BOARDING HOUSE accommodations at St. Louis, they should be secured in advance whenever possible, although this is not absolutely necessary as there are ample accommodations for everybody at reasonable rates.

Don't try to see the whole exposition in one day, but don't fail to see it all, if you have to stay a month.

If you desire any specific or detailed information, call on the nearest Big Four agent or write to Warren J. Lynch, General Passenger Agent, Big Four Route, Cincinnati, O.
